RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia

For September 2013

The Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) is pleased to provide three excellent fellowship opportunities for pediatric academic generalists and hospitalists:

- The Academic General Pediatrics Fellowship (AGP)
- The Pediatric Hospital Epidemiology and Outcomes Research Training Program (PHEOT)
- The Pediatric Pharmacoepidemiology Training Program (PPTP)

Fellows will benefit from a host of professional development activities including:

- Strong mentoring in developing research proposals, identifying research advisors and collaborators and refining research skills
- Formal didactic training in biostatistics, epidemiology, and health services research provided through coursework at The University of Pennsylvania's Center for Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics and Leonard Davis Institute, culminating in receipt of a Master's in Clinical Epidemiology or in Health Policy Research.
- Participation in weekly research work-in-progress seminars for members of CHOP’s Center for Pediatric Clinical Effectiveness or PolicyLab
- Participation in research conferences of our partners and collaborators within CHOP’s Research Institute and the University of Pennsylvania

Fellows will complete their formal coursework towards a Masters Degree in either Masters of Science in Clinical Epidemiology (MSCE) (PHEOT, AGP and PPTP fellows) or Masters of Science in Health Policy Research (MSHP) (PHEOT and AGP fellows).

All accepted fellows will receive the following benefits:
- Stipend
- Tuition benefits
- Health insurance benefits

Candidate Requirements: Qualified applicants must be U.S. citizens or green card holders, have completed a residency program, are board-certified, and must meet the eligibility requirements of whichever degree program is applicable (MSCE or MSHP). Outstanding applicants will have a strong desire to pursue pediatric epidemiologic or health services research as a major component of their career.
The deadlines for receipt of applications for the academic year beginning July 1, 2014 are:

AGP Fellowship: October 1, 2013

PHEOT and PPTP Fellowships: November 15, 2013
