OPPORTUNITY: Sanford Children's Specialty Clinic and the Department of Pediatrics Sanford School of Medicine of the University of South Dakota are seeking a pediatric infectious disease specialist to join our group of 50+ pediatric sub-specialists, with most pediatric subspecialists represented. Visit www.sanfordchildrens.org for physician profiles and more information.

A pediatric infectious disease specialist will be a critical position for Sanford's new, state-of-the-art Children's Hospital which opened in March 2009. This position will be supported by in-house neonatology, pediatric intensivists, as well as the hospitalist program. A reasonable call schedule will be established to offer time off-call. The Department Chair who is a Board Certified Pediatric Infectious Disease Specialist is also available for mentoring, covering call, etc.

Sanford Children's Hospital, a free-standing 146-bed facility dedicated to caring for children, is the flagship pediatric provider for Sanford Health, a large regional health provider that received a gift of $400 million dollars from well-known philanthropist T. Denny Sanford. A significant portion of these funds are earmarked for pediatric care to enhance its mission of clinical service, education, and research. The children's hospital is rapidly growing and provides a rich and fertile environment for those interested in joining an energetic and supportive faculty.

The Sanford Pediatric Residency Program which opened in July 2011 includes 20 residents. The Sanford Research Center is located on the northeast side of Sioux Falls. This center offers the opportunity for all levels of research to Sanford Medical Staff.

This is a unique opportunity to combine administration and clinical practice with development and performance of clinical trials in pediatric infectious diseases. There are also opportunities for collaboration with faculty members from Sanford Research and Basic Biomedical Sciences at the University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine.

COMMUNITY: Sioux Falls (180,000) is a rapidly growing vibrant moderate size Midwestern city. It serves as a regional retail and commerce center for a large region. Noted for its low crime, thriving economy, and good schools, it remains a desirable place to live and raise a family. Heralded by a spirited arts community, abundant park system, and three colleges, it is a pleasant place to live for those with a variety of interests. Despite the “cold winter” reputation, the beautiful surroundings and open and friendly attitude of the people make this community a warm and delightful community in which to live. www.siouxfalls.com
