

July 2019

Dear APPD Members,

If you have residents interested in Developmental and Behavioral Pediatrics, as the new Fellowship Director, I want to make you aware of exciting changes within the DBP fellowship program at Cincinnati Children's. Please see below for highlights. I encourage you to share this information with prospective fellows and recommend that they apply.

DBP Fellowship

- One of the largest DBP divisions in the country with specialty clinics in Autism, Down Syndrome, Rett Syndrome, Fragile X Syndrome, Spina Bifida, Rubinstein-Taybi Syndrome, ADHD, Reading Disorders, Transition Medicine, and treatment programs for children with developmental disabilities and severe behavioral challenges
- Training opportunities to achieve reliability in the ADOS and other standardized developmental assessments
- New interdisciplinary assessment clinic with pediatric fellows and psychology fellows
- New shared didactics with fellows in related disciplines including Psychology, Psychiatry, Neurology, and Genetics
- Opportunities for elective rotations in Neurobehavioral Psychiatry, Neurology, Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Genetics, NICU Follow-up, The Heart Institute Neurodevelopmental and Educational Clinic, International Adoption, Foster Care Center, and Transgender Clinic
- Over 300 hours of instruction/field experience in leadership, advocacy and interdisciplinary teaming through the University of Cincinnati Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and related Disabilities (LEND) program
- Individualized training pathways to align elective experiences, scholarship, mentorship and certification/degree pursuits with long-term career goals (i.e. Master's in medical education, Master's in Clinical Research)

Cincinnati Children's

- Ranked third overall among the 10 Honor Roll hospitals in the U.S. News & World Report's 2019 - 2020 survey of best children's hospitals
- Ranked third among national pediatric medical centers in National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding
- Commitment to diversity, inclusion and cultural competence

Cincinnati, Ohio

- One of America's most vibrant and beautiful river cities with a rejuvenated urban core and diverse neighborhoods
- Extraordinary quality of life due to a diverse economy, affordable housing and low commute times
- One of 13 cities in the United States offering all five arts - ballet, opera, fine art museums, symphony and theatre
- Thriving parks system that includes more than 100 parks and greenspaces throughout the city
